posAbilities is looking for the following:

Vancouver: a man in his late 40's is seeking a live in caregiver. D loves to bicycle throughout the community, attends some programs during the day and a couple of evenings a week. He has also been active in Special Olympics, can be both in community and at home on his own for several hours. D requires support with evening meals and working together to keep his home clean and tidy, meal preparation and shopping, some support with health related appointments and companionship. The live in caregiver will share a condo with D in South Vancouver, close to the river. They will have the master bedroom and ensuite and contribute to utilities and other associated costs of running the home.

Please include a short description of yourself and be sure to include your education and / or experience working with individuals with developmental disabilities.

Please note: we thank all applicants for their interest, but only those meeting our criteria will be contacted.
