Building inclusive schools and communities

Special Olympics BC Unified Sports® brings together students with and without intellectual disabilities to compete and represent their school. This year, 35 schools are championing inclusion by being involved in Special Olympics BC Unified Sports! Through the program, students with and without intellectual disabilities make new friends, develop skills and self-esteem, and break down barriers through inclusive sport and learning experiences. “Confidence-wise, my son has just grown leaps and bounds,” one parent says. “He’s really enjoying being with his friends, the atmosphere, the cheering.”
